Lack of Interest in Fluctuations by Public Worries Brokers.

BY BROADAN WALL.

New York, January 12.—Wall Street ne sever lays one ghost than another rises to disconcert the believers in a higher stock market. Have prices discounted the favorable change in the attitude of the administration towards business? Will the President urge a new curbing of the trusts? These questions caused heattation in prices. To-day's market reflected the doubts of the traders. In the main optimism ruled, While leading issues stood still or receded fractionally minor industrials and rails advanced sharply in many cases. From one cowd to another, the floor traders bid upprices and got away with a small profit. They noted that recent selling orders on the backs of the specialists had been canceled, and it was an easy matter to bid up prices and give an appearance of strength to the general list.

Kumely shares advanced 2 and 2 points with Bethleben Steel rose from 31% to 34.

Aside from the activity of the traders there was little business. Arbitrage brokers reported utter stagnation in the London market, and commission houses here report little or no improvement in outside buving. United States Steel common fluctuated indifferently until a room trader bid up the price to 30 in the execution of buying order for 5,600 shares. Roading again closed unchanged. Fluctuations were held between 169% and 183%.

New York Central made a new low record, dropping to 85%. A minority interest in lake Shore has added to the troubles of New York Central by demanding an exorbitant price for their holdings.

COTTON MARKETS.

COTTON MARKETS.

New York, January 12.—The cotton market recovered most of yesterday's loss during to-day's trading, and closed very steady at a net'advance of 6312 points. Spot house selling of March and May, one of yesterday's prominent features, did not appear to be in evidence on to-day's advance, while scattered buying was encouraged by reports of a better demand for low grades in the South, and talk of increased activity in the domostic goods market.

The market opened steady at a decline of 437 points under overnight selling orders and in sympathy with relatively easy Liverpool cables. Private advices attributed the decline in the English market to further hedge selling, but said prices had been steadied at the lower level by buying on account of Continental spinners fixing prices. Daily reports of hedge selling in Liverpool have doubtless been a discouraging factor from the standpoint of recent buyers since the publication of the ginning figures on Friday. They were apparently offset to some extent this morning, however, by the reports of more interest on the part of the Continent, and the market soon steadeds up on buying. Several reports received from the South, claiming a better demand for low grades, and rumors that English importers were finding the low grades a better spinner value than they anticipated, may also have contributed to the advance. Demand did not become active enough to suggest any material broadening of trade support of outside buying, but offerings were very well taken on comparatively slight reactions, and prices were within a point or two of the best. It is reported that New England mills using high-grade cotton are well supplied, and have been shifting their hedges from March to July, while some of the Southern mills are reported to be buying more freely.

BLEASE BITTER IN ANNUAL MESSAGE

Sounds Alarm Against Encroachment on State's Rights by Federal Government.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Columbia, S. C., January 13 .- "The United States government is daily encroaching upon the rights of the States and taking from them the powers which have been theirs, and which of right belong to them under the Constitution." Governor Cole L. Blease sounds this alarm in his annual address to the South Carolina Legislature, delivered Reminding the lawmakers of the South's war for State's rights fifty years ago, the Governor asked them: "Now are we to sit idly by and see their work undone, and the results achieved by them set at naught? It is time we should begin to ask ourselves the question: What are our rights? and to arise in defense of them."

. The Governor mentioned several re-cent acts of Congress, which, he de-clared, were an encroachment on State's rights, and spoke with particular bit-terness of an act fixing dates for hunt-ing purposes within the borders of the fort to protect a certain set of North-erners, who come down here and buy up large tracts of land and then prohibit our home people from hunting on it. They establish their hunting clubs, which are often nothing less than barrooms, and are sometimes gambling dens, and put fences around their hunting preserves and say to our people, 'stay out.' The United States government, because these people are rich, is attempting, in their interest, to deprive the people of our State of their God-given liberty and right to hunt and fish for the game and fish which an allwise Providence has provided free

"I respectfully recommend." said Mr. Blease, "that you pass a law prohibiting the board of trustees of any State college in this State for white pupils or any public school for white children which receive any of the tax money of the people of the State or any faculty of any such institution, from admitting any negro, Chinaman, Japanese, Cuban or other disagreeable and incompatible race, into said college or school with white pupils."

The Governor included Cubans as a fling at his bitter political enemy, William E. Gonzales, formerly editor of the Columbia State, now United States Minister to Cuba, who is of Cuban an-

In connection with his attack on Mr. Gonzales, the Governor also took occasion to assail Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy, concerning whom he repeated a previous statement, that "Josephus Daniels is a very small man, and is not of the mental calibre to fill the position to which he has been appointed."

Among sundry recommendations Governor Blease also repeated in his great hurrah that he was a redhanded murderer, and he would be furthered to employ lawyers and go through a long and tedious trial. Therefore the injured party must sit down and say nothing, because no good man, if he can help himself, wants the blood of his fellow man upon his hands, at the long trial through a long and tedious trial.
